Stop behaving like a kid, threat man told

A MAN triggered a three-hour police operation involving armed officers and a trained negotiator after he made threats to his wife.

Alan Mizon sent a stream of text messages and telephone calls to his wife Trina, a court heard.

But district judge David Cooper told him: "Settle down and stop behaving like a nine year old."

Mizon, 34, was given a 12-week prison sentence suspended for a year after he admitted harassing his wife, threatening behaviour and possessing 0.6 gm of the drug cannabis.

He was also made the subject of supervision by the probation service for a year, banned from visiting his former home at Rutland Court, Haverhill, for three months, banned from contacting Julie Harris – a friend of his wife – for a year and was ordered to pay £60 prosecution costs.

Judge Cooper told him: "Armed police had to be called because of your infantile behaviour. You put your mother and your family through hell because you weren't able to sit down and discuss your problems."

The court heard that the incident, on March 28, escalated after Mizon swore at officers. He punched out a window at his home and was seen head-butting the walls.

A trained negotiator was called and it was three hours before officers were able to enter the house. They found the cannabis when they went into the property.

The judge said Mizon told officers he felt it was "quite reasonable" to send threatening texts to his wife.

He said Mizon had seemed to find the whole incident comical and seemed to have a hatred of the police.

Jenny Carpenter, defence solicitor, said Mrs Mizon had since said she wanted the couple to get back together and had asked for bail restrictions to be lifted so they could see each other.

Get revved up and help boost appeal

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

MOTOR racing fans can bid for VIP tickets to a major event next month, with the proceeds helping to boost the Weekly News St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal.

Organisers of the annual Haverhill Charity Golf Classic have secured two tickets for the MOTO GP at Donington on Sunday, June 22, which will be auctioned off to the highest bidder.

These amazing tickets will give the holders access to the entire public viewing area, as well as the Paddock, which is set aside for the exclusive use of competitors and technicians.

The tickets are not only valid for race day, but also for the Day of Champions event on Thursday, June 19, and the two practice days. A car pass for the guest parking area is also included.

Bids must reach Chris Briggs, president of the Haverhill Golf Club, Coupals Road, Haverhill, Suffolk, CB9 7UW, by May 31.

Arrangements for the popular charity golf day, organised in association with the Weekly News, are already well in hand and it's set to take place on Saturday, June 28.

It is hoped this year's event – which will benefit our appeal to raise £40,000 to fund local hospice care in Haverhill and surrounding areas, as well as East Anglia Children's Hospice – will take the total raised over the past eight years to more than £100,000.

The organisers would like to thank this year's main sponsors –

Printwise, Adams Harrison and GMC – for their support, together with the many companies and individuals who have donated auction and raffle prizes, especially Chapmans, which has again donated a flat screen television as first prize for the raffle.

More than 140 golfers are expected to take part in the event. The evening's live entertainment will be provided by Russ Williams, voted Club Mirror Comedian of the Year, who will also conduct the auction.

Anyone who would like to be a sponsor or enter a team of four golfers, should contact Mr Briggs on (01440) 703769 during working hours.

■ Haverhill's Wednesday's for Women group, which meets at the Leiston Social Centre on the Clements estate each week, has handed over a £100 cheque to the appeal, bringing the total raised so far to almost £10,000.

The ladies organised various fundraising events, including a sponsored sky dive, and had some cash left over, which they decided to donate to our appeal.

■ Fundraisers at Wickhambrook will hold a car boot sale on Sunday in support of the appeal.

The event will take place at the Wickhambrook Recreation Ground from 1-4pm and pitches are £5. Rolls, drinks and homemade cakes are provided. For more information ring Roz on (01440) 820757.

How can you help us hit the target?

WE CANNOT reach our target without your help – so the Weekly News wants to hear from anyone who is organising fundraising discos, barbecues, dances or other events to boost the hospice appeal.

Tell us what you are planning and we will help publicise your event to make sure it is a success and raises as much money as possible.

If you already have an event organised, why not pledge all or part of the proceeds to the appeal and benefit from the extra publicity to help a really good cause.

A special bank account has been set up at Barclay's Bank. Cash or cheques can be paid in directly to the St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal, sort code 201612, account number 80981842.

An online donations page has also been created at www.justgiving.com/haverhillweeklynews, which also gives details of how to donate by text, and you can donate by phone on (01284) 715582, at the hospice shop in High Street, Haverhill, or the Weekly News office in Queen Street, Haverhill.

Footie fun day

YOUNG footballers will host a mini-league fun day on Sunday and hope spectators will come along to watch some local kids' football.

Grampian Gunners U10s Football Club is organising the event from 10.30am at the Grampian Sports and Social Club in Little Wratting, with sponsorship from more than 30 local businesses.

There will be 10 teams playing a series of eight-a-side matches, leading to a cup final in the afternoon at around 3.15pm.

There will be a barbecue, licensed bar, bouncy castle, penalty shootout and other attractions, as well as a raffle with prizes, including a signed Ipswich shirt, dinner for two and a limo chauffeur, and spa day.

For more information, contact Neil Mustoe on 07944 864953.

Clean up the brook

VOLUNTEERS are needed to do their bit for the environment and help clear up litter in the Stour brook in Haverhill.

Haverhill RiverCare, funded by Anglian Water, is working on the section next to Mott's Playing Field in Haverhill where the otherwise pretty watercourse is blighted by litter and fly-tipped debris, which is both an eyesore and a threat to wildlife, with the brook an important spawning ground for brown trout.

Equipment will be provided.

Anyone interested should contact Ricky Green on 07740 072249.

Fight for life goes on after death crash

TWO people are still fighting for their lives in hospital following a crash on the A143 outside Haverhill.

The collision happened on Monday, May 5, and claimed the life of a 44-year-old woman.

An inquest was opened and adjourned at Bury St Edmunds into the death of Jane Gatt of Cavendish Court, Haverhill, who was the driver of a Citroen Saxo car which collided with a Porsche close to the Great Thurlow turning at around 11am.

She was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital, Cambridge, and died there later.

A female passenger in the Saxo car, believed to be the driver's sister, remains in a critical condition and a male passenger, believed to be the partner of the driver, is "stable".

The Porsche driver, who comes from Bury St Edmunds, also remains in a critical condition.

Police are still appealing for witnesses to the collision to come forward.

Anyone with information should call Pc Nick Spencer on (01284) 774100.

Praise for healthy students

A HEALTHY school has been rewarded for looking after its students.

Samuel Ward College in Haverhill has been awarded Healthy Schools status for promoting the health and well-being of its pupils and staff.

A rigorous inspection found the school provides a "physical and emotional environment that promotes learning and healthy lifestyle choices".

These include healthy eating, exercise and emotional well-being. Helen Jones, assistant headteacher said: "It is a very hard standard to achieve but we are now providing our pupils and staff with far more healthy opportunities and so many are responding.

"Food is of a higher standard, there are far more physical opportunities available and we are seeing more responsive positive students. One thing that we have kept, however, is chips – but only on a Friday."

No jail for 'careless' death crash driver

A DRIVER who pulled straight into the path of a Haverhill motorcyclist who died in the crash has been convicted of careless driving but escaped a jail sentence.

Glenn Hussein was fined £500 after being convicted at Bury Magistrates Court of driving without due care and attention in the crash which led to the death of 30-year-old motorcyclist Kevin Jones.

Magistrates said that a "prudent and competent" driver would not have turned into the path of Mr Jones on the B1106 in North Stow on August 5 last year.

Hussein, 46, of Raynham Road,

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Bury St Edmunds, denied the charge and said Mr Jones' Suzuki motor cycle "came out of nowhere".

But a police reconstruction of the accident claimed he should have had up to ten seconds to see the machine.

Mr Jones, of Hales Barn Road, Haverhill, died at the scene. A post mortem examination found the cause of his death was trauma from the collision.

Hussein had been picking up his wife in his Peugeot car and the crash happened as he turned into a picnic park.

Pc Adam Williams, who led the investigation, said there was evidence of skid marks on the road as Mr Jones attempted to avoid the collision.

He denied claims from Hussein's defence team that the rider might have been travelling too fast for the road.

The court heard that Hussein had initially been arrested at the scene in connection with death by dangerous driving but was later charged with driving without due care and attention.

During police interviews, Hussein said he had been driving normally and would not have done anything differently.

He said: "I looked ahead and saw it was clear but then as I turned right, I saw this motorcyclist come straight at me and drive into me. Everything just stopped, the bonnet popped up and I couldn't see a thing."

But presiding magistrate Meg Clibbon said: "We feel a reasonable, prudent and competent driver would have been able to see the motorcyclist and not turn into his path.

"By your own admission, this is a road fraught with hazards. Even with a slight increase in speed [from Mr Jones], of which there is no evidence of that, you would have been able to see him and react."

Hussein, who was said to be suffering from depression since the accident, was given a £500 fine, nine penalty points and ordered to pay £450 prosecution costs and a £15 victim surcharge.

Last week to have say on schools review

THERE is still time to have your say on plans for the future of schools in Haverhill with just over a week left before the end of the six week representation period on May 23.

People who have not yet had their say are urged to do so on the controversial plans to axe all middle schools in the county including three in Haverhill, one in Clare and others in the Newmarket area.

Cllr Patricia O'Brien, portfolio holder for children, schools and young people's services said: "This six-week period has given everyone a final opportunity to give their views on the proposals agreed by cabinet in March.

"Anyone who is yet to have their say on these proposals should do so before next Friday to ensure their views are considered by cabinet before they make their final decision."

A notice has been displayed outside each of the affected schools, outlining the potential impact if the proposals were given the go-ahead.

Notices have also been on display at various other local venues and details of all of the changes are available on the county council's website.

All views received by the county council will be analysed and go on to form part of the paper going to the Cabinet meeting on June 24 for a final decision on the scheme.

The original recommendations, agreed by the cabinet at its meeting in March will also be included in the briefing paper.

If cabinet members decide to back the proposals at the June meeting, plans will be put in place to begin implementing the schools shake up.

For more information about the schools review, including copies of the notices, visit www.suffolk.gov.uk/sor

Local newspaper man dies, aged 64

A FORMER local newspaper editor has died suddenly at the age of 64.

Colin Lucas, who was editor of the Haverhill Echo for 11 years, lived in Newmarket with his wife Maggie, but five weeks ago they emigrated to the south of France near the Pyrenees, where he died.

During his career Mr Lucas worked for a variety of newspapers across the south of England including the Cambridge Evening News, Bury Free Press and Newmarket Journal.

Current Haverhill Echo editor David Hart said Mr Lucas would be best remembered in the town for joining forces with Haverhill Chamber of Commerce to launch the Christmas late night shopping event which later became the annual Family Christmas Night and for serving on the Haverhill Show Committee for several years.

While working in Cambridge, Mr Lucas was involved in the early days of the Cambridge Folk Festival.

Awards celebrate brightest and best in local business

EXCELL, is at the forefront of communication technology. The company was formed 15 years ago by brothers Dean Hills and Darren Strowger and it now supplies fixed mobile and data solutions to companies across the UK. It has invested heavily in its workforce, especially in the head office, based in Sawston. With over 8,000 customers the company provides businesses with solutions which will either make them cost savings or offer them a business advantage. A spokesman said: "We are heavily involved in the local community, especially offering solutions to local schools and health centres, as well as doctors."

HERBERT RETAIL LIMITED has been based in Rookwood Way, Haverhill, for the past 40 years and employs 240 people who supply in-store equipment and solutions to the major multiples. Many of its customers are leading the way on environmental best practice and an exciting environmental project was started 14 months ago, aligning the company's targets with those of its customers. An environmental management system based on reducing landfill, recycling products and reduction of CO₂ emissions was introduced, with staggering success, including a 70 per cent reduction in landfill waste. It is hoped to encourage other companies to embark on reducing their environmental impact.

VULCAN SERVICE AND SUPPLY COMPANY LIMITED has been operating in Haverhill for the past 15 years and is based in Boundary Road. The company has a shop that sells engineering supplies ranging from nuts and bolts and fixings, to welding sets and personal protection equipment. It also does site work, has fabrication shops and employs 18 people. Also under the Vulcan banner is HSS Hire, Practical Car and Van Hire and the car and vehicle leasing company, Vulcan Vehicle Solutions. BUZZY BEADS was founded last year by 13-year-old Kiera Rosenwold, who holds a traditional cart and canopy stall at Haverhill market every Saturday.

The canny teenage entrepreneur decided to start importing beads, jewellery and cards from as far afield as Cambodia, China, India and Italy, after spotting a gap in the market in her home town.

The Stoke College student has now set up her own website and even holds workshop parties for children's birthdays.

Mum Joanne Rosenwold said: "Kiera has been getting a lot of support from lots of people in the town, and the business is going really well."

ATLANTIC CHAUFFEUR SERVICE was established in 1999 and runs from offices at 20 Cross Close, Haverhill.

It has five members of staff, it is run by husband and wife team Lynda and Allen Johnson and, although based locally, it has clients from as far away as Huntingdon and King's Lynn.

Speaking about why her and her husband's business was nominated, Mrs Johnson said: "We have built quite a clientele and our service is very good. We go that extra mile, which I'm sure our customers really appreciate." Beauty and complementary therapies are on offer at AREVOLUTION WELLBEING CENTRE. Despite its town centre

FINISHING touches are being made in readiness for the 2008 Haverhill CB9 Business Awards on Saturday.

The Haverhill Chamber of Commerce event, in association with the Weekly News, will see local firms recognised for their successes at the glittering ceremony at Chilford Hall, Linton.

The black tie event kicks off with a welcome reception, followed by a three-course dinner, awards presentation and music provided by Jacen and the Rocknauts.

Fundraising for the Weekly News St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal will also take place.

Paul Donno, chairman of the chamber, will announce the winners of the 12 prestigious awards.

He said: "These awards characterise our local business community – a community that is not afraid to work hard, to acknowledge and celebrate achievement, to have fun and to be charitable, remembering those who are less fortunate than we are."

"These awards also reflect the diversity of our business community – the chamber prides itself on being an inclusive business organisation. I think this is reflected in the sponsors the awards have attracted and the wide range of companies who have entered the awards."

Today, we take a look at the firms who have been shortlisted for the awards.

location in Murton Slade, the relaxing venue offers a secluded and peaceful retreat from day-to-day life.

The business was founded two years ago by Theresa Foddering, 24, and her 25-year-old business partner Yvette Eilan.

Treatments on offer include everything from nail painting, facials and aromatherapy to reflexology, massage and crystal healing. Theresa said: "Although we are in the town centre, we offer a retreat which is very relaxing and out of the way. The business has been going very well so far, and we're very pleased to be nominated."

AQUA TECH, a state-of-the-art window cleaning business, was founded by experienced cleaner Nigel Trunks four years ago.

And the days of employees tackling treacherous climbs up high ladders are now a thing of the past, thanks to the hi-tech Reach and Wash Thermo Pure Advanced Technology System, which allows the worker to clean the windows from ground level using a long brush. The system only uses pure water with no chemicals or detergents, meaning windows stay clean and streak-free for longer.

Nigel said: "The business is going very well. It is simply a more environmentally-friendly and cost effective way of working, and it eliminates the risk of having an accident from falling off a ladder."

ARDEX may have been founded in Germany more than 50 years ago, but it has gone from strength to strength since moving its UK headquarters to Haverhill in 1982. The firm now has 1,600 employees spread across 50 countries, including nearly 100 in Haverhill. Its success is based on the popularity of its adhesives, levelling compounds and other building-related products.

The aim of the family-owned business is "to be one of the world's leading solution providers of high performance specialty building materials".

Amy Hepworth, product marketing executive, said: "We're really pleased to be nominated in three categories."

MANSOL PREFORMS was one of the original firms that moved to Haverhill as part of the town expansion program in 1960.

And 48 years later, the company, which builds glass pre-forms for electronics firms, is still thriving. It employs 25 people in the town from its Hollands Road base, and is hoping to do better than last year, when it made it through to the final three of the export category. Derek Cherry, managing director, said: "We did really well last time, so hopefully we'll do even better this year. We're really pleased to be nominated."

INTERNATIONAL FLAVOURS & FRAGRANCES (IFF) is one of Haverhill's biggest employees, with more than 300 people working at its UK headquarters in the town.

The firm is a world leader in the creation, manufacture and sale of flavours and fragrances, and its base is home to the development and manufacture of flavourings, together with administration and support functions. Sales out of the Haverhill site currently exceed £100 million each year.

Philip Gardner, IFF's finance director, said: "2007 saw us celebrate 50 years in Haverhill, which is testament to the skills and dedication of our people and the support that we receive from our partners and local community. "We are truly proud of being part of Haverhill and pleased that we are recognised as a leading business in the area."

With the awards taking place almost exactly two years after it was founded, KEY EDUCATION

SERVICES has even more reason than most to look forward to the glittering ceremony.

The firm was founded by Debby Dyson and Jenny Wrightson, who have more than 40 years experience between them in education recruitment.

Now employing four members of staff in the town, the company provides teachers to local schools. These include supply teachers and longer-term replacements to fill staffing gaps.

Debby said: "We offer a first-class service making sure that each teacher is placed appropriately, and whenever possible, with the necessary subject specialism. "It's going very well so far, and we're very pleased to have been nominated for the awards."

The opening of the DAYS INN HAVERHILL may have been delayed due to damage caused by a freak tornado, but the business is certainly going down a storm.

The 80-room hotel, which employs 15 people, has gone from strength to strength since its grand opening in 2007, and it has been shortlisted for three categories.

Donna Revell, hotel manager, said: "The customer service nomination is the one we're most excited about – it's something we really pride ourselves on. It's great news to have been nominated."

TINY TOES CHILDCARE'S nomination comes at a time when the small company is making giant strides.

The firm, which currently employs four people and provides day and after school care, is planning to move to new premises in September.

The expansion will see the fledgling firm, only founded in 2005, take on more than 20 staff. It focuses on teaching children to be green, showing them how to recycle and visits charity shops as part of its early years education.

Amanda Ewing, the company's director, said: "I wasn't sure whether to enter – I didn't think anyone would notice little old me. But I'm really glad I did and am pleased to be nominated."

A booming online business which has outgrown its former home has been recognised by the CB9 Business Awards.

Since its launch in 2006, ESSENTIAL SHOPS now boasts five separate online shops with two more scheduled to open this year.

The family business, which prides itself on good customer service, offers a wide range of board games, toys, craft accessories, homewares and children's outfits.

The online shops were built by internet consultant Sean Proctor, and will be revamped in the coming months.

Chrissy Proctor, director, said: "The business has grown from strength to strength in the last 12 months and has moved from being a home-based business to occupying two units at the Hollands Business Centre."

COLETTE'S ENTERTAINMENT SCHOOL is a one-woman enterprise that has just grown and grown.

Having had to go away to train in Bury St Edmunds five years ago, proprietor Colette Simeonidis spotted a gap in the market in her home town.

And through offering singing and dancing classes in hip hop, street jive and musical theatre, she now has an impressive 120 students on her books.

These range from just two years old up to adults.

She said: "It's really nice to be nominated. The business has just grown and grown, but I still take all the classes myself."

SPECSAVERS' branch in Haverhill is focussing on success after being shortlisted for two awards.

The shop in High Street opened in 2004 and now employs 10 people. It offers customers eye tests and sells glasses and contact lenses.

Matthew Edwards, director, said: "We are very pleased. We weren't even aware the awards were happening until someone suggested we enter, but I think they are a good thing for the town."

Everything from mugs and T-shirts to hats and stress balls is printed by XCEL PRINT AND PROMOTIONS.

Andrew Copping, owner of the Boundary Road industrial estate-based firm, set up his business two years ago.

And trade is going well, with the firm having five weeks of orders already in the bag. He is also looking to take on another member of staff to cope with the workload. He said: "I think it's great to have been nominated. It's very prestigious, and is really good news for the business."

AMANDA JULIA COUTURE has been operating from first floor premises in Queen Street, Haverhill, since last October, after taking over the former Brides premises.

Amanda Julia Harris took a degree to qualify in fashion and textile design before starting to make wedding dresses from home, then opened her own business. As well as wedding dresses, offering a bespoke service, she also caters for evening and prom dresses, wedding outfits and christening gowns.

LAMINGTON CATERING has been operated for the past two years by husband and wife team Nigel and Angela Chapman, based at Blois Meadow, Steeple Bumpstead. It offers a mobile delivery of lunchtime hot and cold food to office and factory workers, as well as catering for corporate functions and events such as weddings and funerals. The couple started with one van, but now operate two, fitted with chiller systems for drinks, sandwiches and baguettes, as well as ovens to provide soup, hot drinks, pasties, pies and hot sausage rolls.

WICKED WHEELS is the largest mobile repairer of alloy wheels in the UK, based in Great Yeldham. Established in 1998, the company has used a tried and tested business model to generate success and profitability. It operates from fully-branded vehicles containing purpose-built mobile alloy wheel refurbishment systems, with more than 25 mobile operators already covering most of the major conurbations in the southeast. Wicked Wheels refurbishes over 60,000 alloy wheels a year for commercial and private clients. Managing director Steve Darbey picked up two awards at the first business awards in 2005.

Snake slides in to meet Chris!

A SLIPPERY customer slithered along to a nursery to meet the children and help one of the staff members overcome his phobia about snakes.

Holly the English corn snake showed she could be friendly as she was introduced to children at Dizzy's Day Nursery in Hollands Road, Haverhill, as well as staff member Chris Aldis. Chris, 24, suffers from ME and agreed to try and overcome his fear during ME Awareness Week, with sponsorship money of around £320 pledged. Chris, of Vetch Walk, Haverhill, was diagnosed with the condition two years ago and suffers from extreme tiredness, migraines, sensitivity to sunlight and aching flu-like symptoms.

Nursery assistant Carly Wilson said: "He coped really well. The initial meeting with the snake in the office was quite tense, but then he calmed down really quickly and held her for an hour. The children all held the snake too and one little boy had her wrapped around his neck."

Other fundraising events were also held at the nursery and Chris hoped his efforts will help raise awareness of the condition as well as cash to help sufferers. He can be sponsored through the Association of Young People with ME at the website www.ayme.org.uk

Drink-drug mix for crash victim

BY Raymond Brown

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A FATHER killed in a crash on the A1307 had taken cocaine and was over the drink-drive limit, an inquest heard.

Peter Rogers, 34, was also not wearing a seatbelt. He was killed when his Ford Transit left the road and flipped over into a field near Horseheath Green. He was thrown from the vehicle which then landed on him, crushing his chest.

Tests revealed he was 1.7 times over the legal drink-drive limit and had taken cocaine.

The steel erector, of Chedburgh Place, Haverhill, was returning from a trip to Hertford to see his six-year-old daughter, and son who had just celebrated his ninth birthday.

Coroner Dr Colin Lattimore recorded death from hypoxia – a lack of oxygen in the blood when there is pressure on the lungs – due to a crushing of the chest.

At the hearing in Cambridge, Dr Lattimore said: "I have to say at best he was the architect of his own disaster because of the fact he was over the drink-drive limit and was not wearing a seatbelt."

"I hope this will be a warning to others of the dangers of drink-driving and not wearing a seatbelt."

"If he had been wearing one he could have been alive today. I am sorry for the family's suffering."

There were no witnesses to the crash but investigating officer Pc Chris Breeze said he believed Mr Rogers lost control of the vehicle.

Speaking after the inquest, he said: "This tragedy just highlights the dangers of drink-driving and driving without a seatbelt.

"A seatbelt may have stopped him going through the windscreen and could have saved his life."

Mr Rogers' father, 56-year-old Bob Rogers, of Haverhill, earlier paid tribute to his only son, saying: "He never took anything seriously. He just lived life to the full."

"He was an avid Tottenham Hotspur supporter and he thought the world of all his nephews and nieces, as they did of him."

"He was just a happy-go-lucky lad. His main goal was to buy a house so he could have his children with him as often as possible."

He added: "People sit high up in works vans and think they are safe but they are not. If he had been wearing a seatbelt we believe he would still be here."

Kedington

THE annual social evening of the Garden Society was held at the Royal British Legion Hall last Tuesday. All were welcomed by the chairman, Madge Pelling, who thanked members for providing food, distributed garden descriptions to those who had agreed to open their gardens on Sunday, June 1, and asked them to confirm or amend details as necessary.

Plans for weeding beds in Millennium Park were made. Arrangements for the plant sale on the green outside the post office this Saturday were confirmed.

A date for the society's private visit to a local garden was set, with members agreeing to share transport. The chairman ended by saying a card had been sent on behalf of the society to Les Parkin, who is in hospital, wishing him a speedy recovery.

With business complete, the members were able to enjoy the selection of savoury dishes, salads, cheese and desserts. At the end of the evening the customary raffle was drawn and the chairman reminded members that Colette Barrer would address the meeting on Tuesday, June 3, telling the story of Bressingham

Gardens, where members had enjoyed a successful trip in April. As the gardens are widely known, it is expected that many guests will wish to attend the meeting. Further information is available from Mrs Pelling on (01440) 704844 or by email at madge.pelling@tiscali.co.uk

Confidence expressed by the Church Restoration Committee that Bank Holiday Monday's duck race on the River Stour would improve financially on 2007's result of £600 was fully justified as the treasurer announced an excellent profit of £775.

Thanks are extended to all who supported the event on such a successful afternoon.

The president of Kedington Women's Institute (WI) welcomed members and visitors from other institutes and past presidents to the May meeting to help celebrate the 85th anniversary of the founding of the WI in Kedington. The main business of the meeting was to discuss the resolutions which go forward to the AGM of the institute, to be held in Liverpool in June. These concerned the use of bottom trawling, with the potential catastrophic loss of marine wildlife, and a resolution urging the Government to provide treatment and therapy in a more appropriate environment than prison for people with severe health problems. Members voted against the first resolution, although an amendment to the resolution was passed.

A speaker from Energy Saving Trust gave a short talk to remind members that they could get advice on how to save energy, thereby saving money and reducing global warming.

A beautifully decorated cake had been made by WI member Jackie Parkinson, and members and friends enjoyed the cake and some sparkling red wine to celebrate the birthday celebration.

The institute has used the Royal British Legion Hall for its meetings over many years, and was pleased to present the chairman of the branch, Fred Phillips MBE and secretary Brian Tyrrell, with a framed photograph of Queen Elizabeth II, patron of the Royal British Legion, to be displayed in a prominent position in the hall, as a celebration gift to mark the 85th birthday of the institute.

Thanks and appreciation were voiced on behalf of the branch for this most welcome and appropriate gift.

Can you name this house?

DOES anyone recognise this grand home from days gone by with a horse and cart by the front door?

Haverhill and District Local History Group has not been able to identify the house in the picture, which has "Atterton and Ellis" written on the back.

Members have looked at Little Thurlow Hall, Eastcotts, Woodlands Hotel, and Vale Place in Haverhill, as well as Cliftons in Clare, and decided it is none of them.

Anyone who can help should contact the Local History Centre on (01440) 714962.

Chief's salary deal 'may be unlawful'

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A POLITICAL row over the £220,000 salary given to a new council chief has escalated with a report which has claimed that the pay award was "potentially unlawful".

Opposition Labour and Liberal Democrat groups on Suffolk County Council have claimed the report shows the controlling Conservative group was wrong to give Andrea Hill, the council's new chief executive, a pay rise of around £70,000 compared to her predecessor.

Mrs Hill, 44, who lives in Duxford, has previously worked for Cambridge City Council and headed Bedfordshire County Council before her move to Suffolk.

The Labour group said the report by the District Auditor showed that information was kept from the staff appointments committee when it decided to increase the salary range for Mrs Hill.

The report said: "It is arguable that the decision to increase the salary range was based on inadequate information and relevant information was not made available to the committee and therefore, was potentially unlawful."

■ PAY RISE . . . Andrea Hill says her salary is the "going rate" for the job.

Cllr Julian Swainson, Labour group leader, said: "This damning report shows that Labour councillors were right to raise the issue with the District Auditor. Clearly the appointment process was flawed, as we said.

"This report shows that Suffolk electors simply cannot trust their Tory county councillors to act responsibly with taxpayers' money."

Cllr Kathy Pollard, Liberal Democrat leader, said: "I think what this report shows, once again, is that a small Conservative cabal is making secretive decisions for the rest of the county.

"We are very concerned at the implication that the council cannot demonstrate value for money was given sufficient consideration. At a time when many people are feeling the pinch, this simply makes the council look bad."

But Cllr Jeremy Pembroke, Conservative leader of the council, said: "We have always maintained that the process was robust and thorough, and I am delighted that this has been confirmed by the Audit Commission.

"Labour and the Lib Dems can play politics with this if they like, but the Conservatives will continue working hard on behalf of the people of this county, to continue delivering high-quality services befitting the best county council in the East of England, and to keep Council Tax as low as possible."

Mrs Hill has said her pay is "the going rate" for the job.

PICK OF THE PETS

THE Stour Valley branch of Cats Protection has cats desperately looking for new homes. Some arrive as strays, many are unwanted or simply abandoned. Others come from loving homes that, due to circumstances, are unable to care for them any longer. When a cat comes in, it is given a complete health check by a vet which includes worming, removing all unsolicited visitors (fleas, earmites, etc) and dental checks, ensuring that when that special home comes along, it leaves in the best possible health. The welfare of cats is top priority and the branch always visits prospective owners first to make sure of the best possible home. It is the Cats Protection League's policy never to put a healthy animal down and it welcomes any donation from new owners. If you can offer a home to any of the cats contact (01440) 730096.

Freddy and Garfield are a wonderful pair of young cats. They are both ginger and white neutered males, age 10 months. They are very friendly and have wonderful characters. They would be terrific family pets, bringing you joy and laughter for many years. Could you offer these cheeky chappies a home?

Cinnamon (pictured), Saffron and Burrito are three lovely tortoiseshell females, all around three years old, and looking for new homes. Could you offer a home to any of these beautiful ladies?

Nelson is a 10-year-old black neutered male, and Peaches is a seven-year-old female. They are both affectionate, although Peaches is a little bit shy until she knows you. They are both healthy, lovely cats that deserve a lovely new home. They need to stay together if possible.

Care scheme set to go national

AN INNOVATIVE approach to caring for children at a Suffolk Hospital will be championed around the country as an example of best practice.

The scheme – the brainchild of Mary Ann White, a teacher on the Rainbow Ward at West Suffolk Hospital, in Bury St Edmunds – sees health and education providers working more closely to care for youngsters.

Mrs White, who has been at the hospital since 1999, said: "We arrange regular meetings of health and education professionals. Each discipline is educating the other."

As part of the approach, forums are organised so experts from different disciplines can give information about various medical conditions, along with advice on the practical implications of how they can be managed in school.

This means doctors get an insight into what is happening in schools and the support networks provided by education, while teachers gain a better understanding of how a pupil's medical condition may affect their behaviour in the classroom.

Dr Raman Lakshman, consultant paediatrician at the hospital, said: "When a family is seen for a consultation, doctors get to know the parents' perspective and understanding of the problem. But in many cases important information which completes the story and helps with the diagnosis and management can only be obtained by liaising with the child's school. This is why partnership is so important to provide the best care for our young patients."

A flier outlining the scheme's details has now been produced and is being circulated to health providers and local authorities.

Successful trio to share their secrets

THREE experienced business women are coming to Haverhill to share their secrets about working for yourself.

Jan Cavelle, Janean Ward and Emma Jones will be on hand to talk about their businesses at the next local meeting of Enterprising Women and Menta (Mid Anglian Enterprise Agency).

The free networking event – at the Haverhill Arts Centre on Thursday, May 22, from 10am to 1pm – is for women who are thinking about setting up a business or who want to grow their venture.

Those attending on the day will have an opportunity to hear from the trio as they share their experiences in running a business, the highs and the lows, and the reasons for becoming self-employed.

Haverhill-based Jan Cavelle runs The Jan Cavelle Furniture Company Ltd, which makes and supplies furniture to interior designers. She started selling from home to support herself and two small children. The company has expanded between 30 per cent and 50 per cent every year since 2000 and it now has over 30 staff and a turnover in excess of £1.5million.

Janean Ward started her own digger business, Mini Digger Hire, in Norfolk last year. It all began with a house extension, but the mother-of-two turned her digging exploits into a business.

Emma Jones is founder and editor of Enterprise Nation, the home business website, and has started two businesses herself from home offices in London, Manchester and Shropshire.

To register for the event, contact Alison Medlock, membership services manager for Enterprising Women, on 0800 012 1365 or email alison.medlock@enterprising-women.org or visit www.enterprising-women.org

Students show true (hair) style

STUDENTS at a Haverhill school have proved they are a cut above the rest.

All 10 of the youngsters taking the BTech Level One in hairdressing at Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College, in Chalkstone Way, have completed the course with flying colours.

Debbie Lee, hairdressing tutor, said her first batch of students on the course fully deserved their success.

She said: "They have all done really well, and some of them have already got jobs and placements."

"The course involves customer sales, reception duty and health and safety, and gives them a taste of what the career is like."

A trek beyond the boundaries of disability

I'VE ALWAYS been a bit of a cheeky chappie," admits Liam Plumridge, with a broad grin. "I'm here to enjoy myself and to enjoy life. I live every day as if it's my last, basically."

The 17-year-old is about to star in a BBC documentary – charting the physically and

ALICE RYAN speaks to Liam Plumridge about how he overcame adversity to complete a gruelling TV challenge mentally gruelling trek he took across the Andes, led by a former SAS commando.

Completing the 35-day endurance test, which included traversing Amazonian rapids and climbing an active volcano, is no mean feat for any teenager. But for Liam, who has dyspraxia, it is a truly incredible achievement.

"It's a problem with co-ordination and balance," he explains. "Dyspraxic people can have problems with all kinds of things other people think of as simple, like tying shoelaces or opening a tin of beans."

"The brain sends out messages but, somewhere along the line, the body says 'No thank you, not today'. I look like a normal guy; it's what they call one of the hidden disabilities."

Liam's symptoms first showed when he was just three years old. Noticing her son was unusually clumsy, mum Karen Sheppard took him to the GP and, soon after, he was diagnosed dyspraxic.

"There was quite a lot of bullying at school," says Liam, who lives in Haverhill. "I got that horrible spastic word which I hate, absolutely hate, all the time. I was the odd one out."

"But I always got on with it: this is who I am. I see it as a gift; it's made me the person I am – lively and full of beans."

"People who pick on others are just idiots. That's what I say to kids who want to kill themselves because of stupid prats like that; I say 'Don't give in, persevere.'"

Liam speaks to numerous young people every year, in his role as youth ambassador for the Dyspraxia Foundation. "I've always wanted to raise awareness of disability," he explains.

"That was one of the reasons I applied for Beyond Boundaries."

Across the Andes is the third series of BBC2's Beyond Boundaries. Each series has seen a group of disabled teenagers take up a serious challenge: to go on a tough trek, in remote climes, led by former SAS major Ken Harnes.

"I saw an advert in a TV guide, saying they were looking for disabled people," says Liam. "I thought 'Why not? I'll go for it.' Two interviews later, he'd made it into the final 10 – beating off competition from some 450 other applicants."

"They said I was the first dyspraxic person they'd ever had on the show," adds Liam, whose fellow trekkers had a wide range of disabilities: two were in wheelchairs, while another pair relied on crutches.

"The hardest thing was trying to explain dyspraxia to the others," he says. "It's obvious if you're missing an arm or leg that you've got a disability, but this is something you can't really see. I had a bit of a tiff with one guy when we were pushing the wheelchairs, because he thought I was stronger than I actually was. I have very weak muscles and, some days, I had almost no strength at all."

On arriving in Ecuador, the group spent one night in a five-star hotel before being whisked up in a Hercules – and then dropped near the shores of the Amazon.

"On that first day we ended up pushing our boat through the rapids, because it got stuck," remembers Liam, with a laugh. "I thought 'This is going to be a fun trip!'"

Day two was spent pushing and pulling the wheelchairs through a muddy bog. Day three was pretty much the same. As was day four.

"It was tough," admits Liam. "By the second week, when we reached the Andes, it had gone from being lovely and hot to freezing cold. Because of the altitude I started to get difficulty breathing and these really weird, vivid dreams."

"And we had to push the wheelchairs up Cotopaxi, the biggest active volcano in the world. I was absolutely exhausted – not just physically, but you needed a lot of mental strength. I also missed my family, which I hadn't expected; I'm an independent sort of person. It was all too much. I said I was leaving."

Packing his bags, Liam was sent to sit in an army truck and await his return home. "I was in there for two hours," he remembers. "I sobbed on Ken, literally sobbed on his shoulder. He's tough but he's the nicest bloke you could ever meet."

"I asked if I could speak to my mum. The last thing she said to me at the airport was 'I'll really miss you', which didn't help; that kept coming back to me in my dreams. When I spoke to her she said to carry on, to do it for her. And that's what I did."

Attacking the rest of the trek with renewed enthusiasm, Liam says it was full of once-in-a-lifetime experiences – including eating barbecued guinea pig.

"On one occasion I was sent net fishing," adds Liam, with a laugh. "I think they thought a dyspraxic person net fishing would make good TV: needless to say, I was rubbish. One of the real highlights was going horseriding. At the beginning of the day, the expedition leader told me I couldn't leave his side all day because of my problems with balance. That felt really degrading. But by 4pm I was galloping along ... I loved it."

The 300km trek, which reached heights of 15,000ft, finished on the Pacific Coast. "It was gorgeous, just incredible," adds Liam. "The whole experience was amazing, not that I'd do it again – it really was tough! But it completely changed my life."

The trip sparked a passion for travel: next week Liam will start a job at a travel agency – and he's already planning to visit Namibia and Australia, to name just two exotic locations.

"When I talk to young dyspraxic kids, I hope they will be encouraged by hearing my story," adds Liam. "Having dyspraxia doesn't have to hold you back. Doing this trip has made me stronger and my self-esteem is definitely higher. I feel quite invincible now!"

■ Across the Andes: Beyond Boundaries continues on Friday at 9pm on BBC2.

■ Liam is about to scale another mountain – Ben Nevis – to raise cash for Scope, the UK cerebral palsy charity. If you would like to sponsor him, email l.plumridge@btinternet.com

■ INTREPID ... above, Liam, top, and his fellow trekkers pushed wheelchairs up the world's largest active volcano as part of their adventure. Left, Liam by the Amazon and, below, helping his fellow travellers through the jungle.

Showtime for talented town

BY Stephen Exley

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A NEW arts festival has been launched to showcase the wealth of talent Haverhill has to offer.

The inaugural Haverhill Performing Arts Festival, which will be held in November, will focus on speech and drama.

Vivien Taite, vice-chairman of the event, believes it will revitalise the Haverhill's youth arts scene and become a popular fixture on the town's calendar.

She said: "Haverhill is a growing town with a wealth of often unseen or unrecognised talent in drama, music and dance among our young people. Some children have never had the opportunity to take part in local groups and classes.

"We see the festival as very much a community project that will strive to encourage and support all children under the age of 18."

Plans to hold the festival again in 2009 and 2010 are already afoot, with music and dance performances to be added to the line-up after the inaugural event has taken place.

The organising committee is calling for residents to support this year's event, which will be held at Haverhill Arts Centre and feature individuals and groups from the town and surrounding villages.

A launch event at the arts centre was attended by 40 guests, including representatives from schools and clubs.

Cash towards the project has already been provided by Haverhill Town Council and Suffolk County Council, but more sponsorship is needed from local firms.

Mrs Taite said: "Support and sponsorship will be key in helping us to ensure we have the foundations in place to grow the festival into one of the biggest annual events in Haverhill for our young people, attracting entrants from across the region and raising the profile of the town."

To get involved in the festival, call Samantha Tucker on (01440) 714648. Copies of the event syllabus will be available from the arts centre from May 24.

Gladiators do battle at fun day

MORE than 60 children battled it out using football boots and pugil sticks at a family fun day.

The event, which took place at Chalkstone Playing Fields in Haverhill, featured a football tournament with five local under-10s sides.

And after the youngsters had completed their football matches, they had a chance to enjoy a Gladiators-style jousting contest and barbeque.

Andrew Jenks, one of the organisers, said: "It was a real family event. It went fantastically well, and everyone really enjoyed themselves."

"We also had a collection of football boots to send to African children, and we received around £50 worth, so we were pleased with that."

Medals at last for 'forgotten army'

VETERANS of a forgotten war will finally see their service recognised after battling the Government for the right to receive medals.

Cambridgeshire servicemen who fought in the jungles of Malaya and Borneo in the 1950s and 60s were due to be decorated at a ceremony at the Imperial War Museum, Duxford, today.

But the medals are being awarded by the King of Malaysia, not the British Government.

Veterans forced the Government to back down over rules banning the acceptance of foreign honours in 2006. They still do not have official permission to wear the medals.

Fred Burden, a member of the National Malaya and Borneo Veterans' Association who is organising the ceremony, said: "It was a battle to get the medal in the first place and we are still battling to be able to wear it officially."

"But we don't serve under the British forces any more. We are private citizens, therefore we will wear any medal we choose to wear."

■ MIXED EMOTIONS... Keith Ridley will be proud to receive his medal, but is dismayed by the attitude of the British Government. Picture: Keith Heppell 483427.

The Duxford ceremony will see a representative of the Malaysian High Commission award the Pingat Jasa Malaysia medal to around 300 Cambridgeshire veterans.

They were among 35,000 British troops who fought Indonesian Communists in Borneo and Malaya between 1957 and 1966. Of those men, 509 were killed.

Keith Ridley, 62, who lives in Offord D'Arcy, was 18 when he served aboard the HMS Albion in Brunel.

He said of the award: "It puts Britain to shame. This is a very impressive medal. I went to a ceremony in Suffolk and it brings tears to the veterans' eyes.

"When they get it, they say, 'at least we've got some recognition, which is more than our Government has done for us'."

John Wallage, 65, of Impington, served aboard a converted minesweeper as it patrolled rivers in the jungles of northern Borneo.

He said: "It was grim. More than 500 men were killed. But when you got back, people had never even heard of it."

"We were like a forgotten army."

Calls for more info on planes

NOT enough was done to let people comment on new plans for stacking planes over Cambridgeshire, claimed councillors.

National Air Traffic Services (NATS) has been consulting on plans to increase the number of planes flying over the county by replacing the two shared holds for Luton and Stansted airports with three new holds – one for Luton and two for Stansted.

Two of the stacks will be over South Cambridgeshire. It could mean, for example, that people living in Conington, Elsworth, Upper Camboorne, Arrington, Croydon, Tadlow, Hatley, Gamlingay and Waresley would have a plane flying over them every 2.4 minutes in the hold at peak hours.

A report prepared by South Cambridgeshire District Council accused NATS of not giving enough detail about the plans and failing to justify the need for two holds for Stansted airport in their response to the consultation.

BY Rachel Exance

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

The council report was put before the cabinet at its meeting last week.

NATS only put one proposal forward for consultation because it said more options could result in information overload for people.

The report said: "Whilst recognising that airspace management is complex, the council would have preferred to have greater details provided on the alternative options since these might have assisted in understanding why the final option was considered to be the best."

The council was concerned parts of the district, which would see an increase in aircraft, were very rural with low noise levels – further information on noise is required to assess the impact on the district, it said.

It wants a review a year after the proposals are implemented to assess the impact on local communities.

Also on the agenda was the council's response to Uttlesford District Council's consultation on a second runway at Stansted.

Uttlesford continues to oppose the idea, saying vital improvements to road and rail are needed, not enough information about noise is available and it is worried about larger aircraft using the airport, as well as increased numbers of planes.

Steve Hampson, executive director at South Cambs, said: "Both proposals raise a number of areas of concern for us."

"A detailed response to each of the consultations has been prepared and councillors will be asked to consider them very carefully before submitting a final response to NATS and Uttlesford."

Life begins at 40 for Scouse funnyman

By Nik Shelton

SCOUSE funnyman John Bishop comes to the Junction in Cambridge this month on his first UK tour. His show *Stick Your Job Up Your A charts his journey from being a well paid sales and marketing director for a pharmaceutical company to a jobbing comedian on the stand up circuit.

Despite his major career change he says he has no regrets. "Well obviously you miss the salary cheque coming in every month and the car and the bonuses and the pension but apart from abject poverty now, there's no regrets," he laughs.

"The first half of the show is straight stand up and the second half is one long story about how I became a comedian because it's the question people always ask. "I had a good job, I was at the stage in my life where I had kids and a mortgage and giving it all up to be a comedian wasn't really sensible. But if I'd have tried to stay in the job I was doing I'd have gone absolutely mad." And with a CV as chequered as John's he's certainly got a lot of sympathy with anyone who has come to one of his gigs from a hard day's work. His past jobs include working as a bouncer and as a semi-professional footballer in the football conference. But he's pretty sure what his most hated job was.

"I had a job once painting the ICI chemical factory near Liverpool. You had to paint it from one end to the other and then when you'd finished you'd go back and start again, it was like the Forth Bridge. "It was horrible because you had to get into all these nooks and crannies and in between the pipes. You had to cover yourself in a boiler suit and cover your face with Vaseline so that at the end of the day you could wipe all the paint off. I hated it."

When he originally began his stand up it was a hobby and standing up on stage in a comedy club was something that had never occurred to him before. "I never used to watch stand up comedy so for me what's funny is sitting in the pub with my mates, they make me laugh. Before I first walked on stage I'd only been in two stand up clubs in my life.

"What's different about me is that I started comedy in my late 30s and I already had a wife and kids. A lot of comedians start after college or university and it's what they set out to do. "There was some famous comedian, I can't remember who it was, who said you've got nothing interesting to say until you're 40."

■ John Bishop, aged 40, is at the Junction on Wednesday, May 28, 8pm. Tickets are £10-£12. To book call (01223) 511511.

Arise May - April

This week brings important challenges for intimate relationships. You may have unreasonable expectations of a romantic partner, real or imagined. The sooner you adopt a more practical view of you both, the happier you'll be.

A close partnership is showing signs of strain. One of you may be working at the expense of your personal life. Alternately, the spark could have left your sex life. The two of you will have to work hard to recover the magic that drew you together.

Your health may not be very robust right now. The demands of a child or lover are wearing on you. It's important to slow down when you start feeling tired. If you need to chill out, hit the hay early or take the phone off the hook, so be it.

It will take all your self-discipline to focus on work. An admirer could play hot and cold with you. You don't appreciate these tactics; you need to know where you stand. It may be wise to put distance between you, at least until your friend gets serious.

If you're not careful, your emotions could get the best of you. It's important to take a more reasoned approach with a partner who has let you down. There's a good chance that your friend is completely oblivious to the hurt he or she has caused.

Choral classics at Catholic church

THE Church of Our Lady and the English Martyrs in Cambridge is celebrating its third annual music festival until May 25.

The Catholic church's festival features special services featuring sacred music from every period of the Church's history from plainsong to the contemporary.

On Friday at 7.30pm singer Ben Thapa from opera boyband G4 will perform a free solo recital of classical works accompanied by Anne Marshall on piano. Now a postgraduate student at the Royal College of Music, Ben returns to his home church to present a programme of German and Italian works by Schumann, Leoncavallo and Tosti.

The next evening at 7.30pm the Brentwood Cathedral Consort will perform a selection of English choral works. On Wednesday, May 21, from 12.45pm, there will be a free lunchtime recital of music for organ and voice featuring Cambridge-based soprano, Sarah Rosewell. Cambridge Voices conclude the festival on Saturday, May 24, by joining Ely Cathedral organist Jonathan Lilley for a gala evening of choral classics. For more details call (01223) 224854.

UK's MoT pass rate is so dire

MORE than a fifth of cars fail their first MoT test, giving the UK one of the worst records in Europe, figures have revealed.

In 2007, a total of 21.6 per cent of three-year-old vehicles in the UK did not pass the MoT, according to the Institute of Advanced Motorists (IAM) Trust.

The trust said this compared unfavourably with many European countries – some of which test cars for the first time after four years rather than the UK minimum of three years.

France, for example, had a 5.61 per cent failure rate, while Switzerland had 17.5 per cent and Norway 19.9 per cent. Spain has a 32 per cent rate of failure.

Germany, where cars are tested after three years, has a failure rate of just 4.8 per cent. Austria, another three-year country, has a 10 per cent failure rate.

The IAM Trust, which obtained the UK figures under the Freedom of Information Act, said lighting and signalling problems were the chief cause of UK failures, followed by tyres and wheels and problems associated with drivers' views, including cracked windscreens.

Consumer Advice -
A Pet is a Lifetime Commitment

Never Buy On Impulse

Dogs and Cats can live 15-20 years.
Rabbits can live 7-10 years or longer.

Will you be there for them - through marriage, divorce, having babies, moving house and holidays away?

Have you considered:

- Do you have the time to give your pet the exercise, mental stimulation, training and attention it needs?
- Dogs and cats cost around £500-£1000 a year to keep.
- If this is a pet for the children, who will look after the animal when the children leave home?

Note: Under the Animal Welfare Act 2006 a pet owner has a legal duty to ensure the welfare of his animal(s).

If you decide to buy a pet we would always recommend the following:

- Please consider contacting your local animal rescue/rehoming centre. There are thousands of healthy, loving animals all over the UK who need a home.
- Research before you buy. Be sure you understand the needs of the pet you are interested in. Check that your lifestyle and environment suit the animal.
- When buying kittens and puppies, insist on seeing the mother with the litter. Check that the facilities are clean and the animals appear alert and healthy. You should be able to handle them freely under supervision. Make sure your chosen pet is old enough to leave its mother.
- Ensure that the animal you are buying is healthy and free from signs of injury or disease. Always ask for a copy of its medical records including vaccination certificate and records of worming and flea treatment.
- Be prepared to wait: the right pet is worth waiting for!

The Wellcome Trust Sanger Institute has an expanding scientific programme dedicated to using natural and experimental genetics to understand the role of genes in health and disease.

Senior Web Developer - Ensembl and Vega - Ref CEN 1418/1661 - Salary from £27,316 per annum dependent on experience. Closing date for this post is 29th May 2008. Please note interviews will be held on 12th and 13th June.

Two senior Perl web developer positions are available as part of the Ensembl web team - running and developing the Ensembl (<http://www.ensembl.org/>) and Vega (<http://vega.sanger.ac.uk/>) websites. Successful applicants will work closely with other members of the web team and the Ensembl and Vega communities.

The scope of the role includes all aspects of website development and deployment: database management and data curation; web programming (both server and client-side); writing maintenance and management scripts; and web-site management.

You will have a science or related degree, ideally with some familiarity of molecular biology; a good knowledge of Perl (including object-orientated coding); and experience of Apache/mod_perl an advantage; knowledge of SQL; and experience of web-development (including areas such as JavaScript, AJAX) and/or bioinformatics.

Your CV or covering letter should include examples illustrating your involvement in web development projects (including URLs or example pages) and/or projects involving extensive Perl coding.

Please contact James Smith (js5@sanger.ac.uk) for further information.

Senior Web Developer - Ref CEN 1624 - Salary range for this position is £27,316 to £36,951 dependent on experience. Closing date is 25th May 2008

The Wellcome Trust Sanger Institute (WTISI) is a world leader in genomic research (Human Genome Project) and the characterisation of sequence variation (The SNP Consortium, HapMap project). The success of the Wellcome Trust Case Control Consortium (WTCCC - <http://www.wtccc.org.uk/>) in discovering risk genes for seven common diseases has propelled a new exciting programme, WTCCC2, to investigate over twenty disease phenotypes by large-scale genotyping and sequencing in 120,000 patient samples. We are seeking informatics specialists to undertake vital steps in data processing, analysis and dissemination.

We seek an individual to develop and maintain the WTCCC site, which is used both for public data release and secure information sharing within the consortium. You should have extensive experience of programming PERL in a UNIX/Linux environment and of RDBMS, creating and maintaining production websites using the APACHE Webserver Software, and Javascript. A flair for good site design and an understanding of the security issues is also required.

This post is available for two years in the first instance may, subject to the availability of funding, be renewed for a further period or periods.

Receptionist - Ref CEN 1664 - Salary range from £13,725 to £16,892. Closing date is 1st June 2008.

We are looking to appoint a capable Receptionist to augment our busy Reception team. The role will include the full range of reception duties & various additional administrative tasks as required.

You will be the first point of contact for visitors & telephone callers to the Institute, so ensuring they feel welcomed is essential. You will be responsible for fielding queries from internal and external customers, providing and receiving information, courier administration & various additional administrative tasks.

You will be able to demonstrate your ability to communicate effectively both orally and verbally and to provide evidence that you have delivered a high quality professional reception service in other organisations. It is important that you can work flexibly and be able to deal effectively with changing priorities. The knowledge and ability to use basic Microsoft Office products, telephony systems, email and other computer systems is essential. It is also important that you are able to work effectively without extensive supervision.

For all our positions, we offer a comprehensive range of benefits including a final salary pension scheme and excellent on-site facilities. Further details can be found on our website <http://www.sanger.ac.uk/careers/jobs/>.

To apply for any of these positions, please email your CV (including 2 referees) and current salary details, quoting appropriate reference number to: recruit@sanger.ac.uk. Or post to: Human Resources, The Wellcome Trust Sanger Institute, Genome Campus, Hinxton, Cambridge, CB10 1SA

FOOTBALL

■ WINNING WAYS ... the triumphant Haverhill Rovers U15 squad with the Mildenhall Youth Invitation Cup.

Bull charge through to final repeat

SEVERAL issues were decided as the Treadfirst Sudbury & District Sunday League season drew towards a close at the weekend.

The Sudbury & Haverhill Referees Association Charity Shield final will see Haverhill Bull take on Northcroft in a rematch of the earlier Challenge Cup Final, which the Bull won comfortably.

Bull took on Black Horse Hammers in Sunday's semi-final and edged to a 3-1 victory with goals from Chris Claydon, Jamie Warner and Ian Ford.

The other semi final saw Northcroft beat Haverhill United Old Boys 5-2.

Mount Pleasant are the champions of Division Two. Having lost only one match this season, they celebrated after an emphatic 7-2 victory over Acton Crown.

In Division Three, Grampian Sunday's title success was confirmed with a 14-1 victory over Wells Hall Wanderers. Danny Hill netted five times to bring his tally to 74 goals this season.

Ryan Brown hit four and there were a goal apiece for Lee Jaeger, Ross Elkins, John Welsh and Terry Roach.

Woodlands secured a double after winning Division Four, after a 6-2 victory at Figleaves, to add to the Divisional Knockout Cup.

Also in Division Four, Craig Bull's goal was not enough for Woolpack Reserves, who lost 2-1 to Lionhearts and now face certain relegation.

In Division Five, Arrandean Athletic ended their season with a 4-2 victory at Northcroft Rangers.

Rovers lift cup after penalty shoot-out drama

HAVERHILL Rovers U15 travelled to play the host club for the Mildenhall Youth Invitation Cup. They returned triumphant after a penalty shoot-out success. The game started at a blistering pace with Mildenhall attacking down the slope, but Rovers' defence held firm. Rovers found their feet, and, after Pearson was fouled 30 yards out, Bavester took a free kick, which gave the goalkeeper no chance. In the second half, Mildenhall never stopped pushing, but were denied by some superb saves from Sweeney.

With 10 minutes to go, Mildenhall won a corner and, after a goalmouth scramble the ball was tucked in. The match finished at 1-1 and went to penalties. Bavester stepped up first to score for Rovers, but Mildenhall followed suit. Goff missed for Rovers, but Mildenhall also failed to convert. Merritt scored Rovers' third and Mildenhall were also successful. Edwards finished calmly, but Sweeney guessed the right way and saved Mildenhall's fourth. It was then left to Durant to score and give Rovers the cup.

Thurlow sign off with double

THURLOW Youth finished their season with back-to-back matches against Haverhill for their U10 and U11 teams, both of which resulted in 3-1 wins.

The U10s kicked off the first match and immediately took the lead through Rankin, who soon added a second. The third was headed home by Marsh.

The U11s started brightly, scoring through Williamson. Haverhill levelled mid-way through the first half, but Bates slotted home Thurlow's second and Smith rounded things off with their third.

■ Dion Whitrid was man-of-the-match as West Wratting U10 Yellows ended their league season with a goalless draw against Linton Aztecs A.

■ Hundon Hawks U15 closed their league campaign with a comfortable 2-0 victory over second from bottom of the table St Ives.

Two Tom Lock goals in the first half put Hawks in control of a game in which they were never really threatened.

After taking only one point from their first three games, Hawks finished third in the Football fun time for Grampian

GRAMPIAN Gunners U10 FC are hosting a mini-league fun day on Sunday. Sponsored by more than 30 local businesses, the event will have 10 teams playing a series of eight-a-side matches leading to a cup final in the afternoon. There will be a barbecue, licensed bar, bouncy castle, penalty shootout and other attractions on site. A raffle will be held with some prizes, including a signed Ipswich Town shirt, dinner for two plus a limo with chauffeur, spa day, and many more. It will be the ideal chance to go along meet club members and watch some football.

league, just three points off the runners-up spot. They must now face an anxious wait to see if they will be promoted.

■ The last mini soccer game for West Wratting U10 Reds saw them defeat Great Bardfield 3-0 at home.

Bardfield's defence held firm until the second half when Shulver produced an excellent cross, from which Carter powered a bullet header into the top corner.

Two minutes later a flowing move saw Bailey release Shulver, who netted with a blistering shot.

Bailey then ran the full length of the pitch before calmly slotting the third.

■ Hundon Hawks U9 finished their season with a comfortable 5-0 victory when they travelled to Plantation.

Early on skipper Milo Holmes smashed the opener from distance and Anders Pilley made it 2-0.

With man-of-the-match Jake Ryan keeping a clean sheet, Holmes made it 3-0 when he netted from outside the box.

Further goals from Pilley and Brannham Ince completed the scoring.

■ Grampian Gunners U9 rattled in seven without reply to end their season. They scored early on through Gage and Woodley made it 2-0.

Gunners went on to run riot with goals for Fletcher, Robson, Jones and two more from Gage.

SCOTT Webb took five scalps as Haverhill ran out winners by four wickets at Kelvedon & Feering in Division Two of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship on Saturday.

■ Captain Adie Westley, Nick Wilderspin and Jake Smith claimed three victims apiece as Weston Colville crushed Castor by eight wickets.

After bundling their opponents out for just 78, Colville's Arvid Gunderson scored 30 to lead his outfit to 82 for 2.

Nick Avery collected 4 for 54 and Bruce Wagstaff smashed 51 off 39 balls as Abington lost by 104 runs against Yaxley.

■ Gary Ellis hailed Robbie Ketteridge after the bowler's economical spell led Horseheath to a six-wicket triumph at home to Doddington in Division One of the Cheffins CCA Senior League.

The captain felt Ketteridge's display was the best he has seen at the club as he allowed their opponents to score off just three of his 72 deliveries and claimed 3 for 12.

Doddington mustered 61 runs off the first 30 overs, but Nirav Brahmabhatt (45) and James Fountain (27) helped them to 167 for 8.

In reply, Jason Ketteridge and the skipper scored 37 and 33 respectively, and Alan Ketteridge's undefeated 64 guided them to 170 for 4.

Ellis said: "Robbie was superb and I don't think anyone's bowled nine maidens in a 12-over spell for us before."

■ HERO... Horseheath's Robbie Ketteridge.

GOLF

Young Fraser is a name to watch

HAVERHILL Golf Club's Curry Cup team flew out of the traps on Saturday morning in the first of the year's league games, which was at home to Gosfield.

All six pairs won in the morning foursomes element, but post lunch had to buckle down as the pendulum swung in favour of the visitors during the 12 singles matches.

Honours were even among the lower category players and there was only a point advantage gained by the home club's 10-18 handicappers, which at the end of the day gave Haverhill a 12½-5½ points victory.

One possible name to look for in the future among the home squad is that of 13-year-old Fraser Curl, who was making his debut in a senior team.

Despite coming to grief in the singles, he and partner Ted Fairhead had a resounding 5&4 foursomes win over D Argent and T Plumb.

Results (Haverhill names first) – Foursomes: Houchen/Pipe beat Haylett/Johnson 2&1, Whiting/Chandler beat Warren/Parnell 5&3, Fish/Scott beat Gilfrin/Beason 2up, Warwick/Whelan beat Thomson/A Plumb 3&2, Fairchild/Curl beat Argent/T Plumb 5&5, Brown/Craig beat Slater/Williamson 5&3.

Singles: Houchen beat Parnell 7&6, Pipe lost to Haylett 3&2, Chandler lost to Johnson 3&2, Scott beat Warren 4&2, Whiting beat Beason 1up, Fish lost to Gilfrin 2up, Whelan beat Slater 1up, Fairhead halved with Thomson, Curl lost to A Plumb 4&3, Brown beat Williamson 6&5, Craig lost to Argent 1up, Warwick beat T Plumb 4&3.

■ Haverhill men's Mail on Sunday Classic team finally went out in the fourth round of the competition, away to Saffron Walden where the result was 4-1.

■ There were smiles on two Haverhill members faces during the week. Both Sarah Field and Mike Barnham recorded aces at par three holes.

In Field's case it was in a ladies' competition and in Barnham's a social round. Field's feat, at the 109 yard eighth, was achieved with a six iron, while Barnham used an eight iron at the 125-yard second.

■ The winners in the mixed team competition, the Peggy McGhee Cup, were Gordon and Sheila Price along with Derek Thomas.

The trio accumulated 99 stableford points and were eight ahead of Bob Hammett, who partnered Peter and Marion Mercer.

A further two back in third were Theresa Spittle, Graham Ashcroft and Spencer Tatum.

■ Haverhill ladies' LGU Medal results – Silver Division: D Walker 75, L Bugg 78, S Carr 79.

Bronze Division: J Condon 71, M Kendall, S Price 80.
